DARLINGTON

The majority of my Darlington information comes from census reports and various vital records from Fayette County, Virginia/West Virginia - with special thanks to my cousin, Joyce Grigsby, for her contributions to this text.

The first reported Darlington immigrant of this research is William Darlington—he made the journey from Ireland and arrived in the early 1700's and settled and died in Cumberland County, Pennsylvania. A Will record is on file in this county that I still need.<sup>1</sup>

William Darlington tombstone:

"Here lieth the body of Wm. Darlinton, who departed this life Sept. 10 1757 in the 67th year of his age"

First mention of another possible ancestor is in the Revolutionary War Records of Virginia (Gabriel Joseph Darlington - relationship unknown). The origins of this Darlington lineage is reported to be Durham County, England according to an excerpt from a book titled "Settlement and Some First Families in Back Creek Valley" (page 546).

Frederick County, Virginia is where my Darlington research begins. Meredith Darlington is listed in the 1782 Frederick County, Virginia census (page 20), and again in 1790 (household of 11 whites, 1 black). There are three names listed in the 1810 VA census: David, John, and Meredith. In 1820, Gabriel and Meredith are listed in Frederick County and Benjamin Darlington shows up in Nicholas County. Gabriel and Meredith Darlington both had well established families in the 1820 census report—either one could be the father of young Benjamin who moved on to Nicholas County prior to the 1830 census. This Benjamin Darlington is the forefather of my Darlington lineage.

On 23 April 1810, Benjamin Darlington married Mary (Polly) Johnson in Kanawha County, Virginia - Mary was the daughter of William and Amy Johnson of Nicholas County. Except for the 1840 census report where Benjamin is found in Fayette County, Benjamin continues to be reported in Nicholas County up until he is last seen in the 1850 census. Their son William Darlington settled in Fayette County, Virginia where he is last seen in the 1860 census. I found his wife Anna Holiday Darlington for the last time in the 1870 census living with their son, George Darlington.

In 1858, Benjamin Franklin Darlington (Frank), son of William and Ann Darlington and my third great-grandfather, married Sarah Frances Craig - daughter of James and Sarah Blake Craig.

On 28 December 1873, my great-great-grandfather, James William Franklin Darlington, was born to Benjamin F. and Sarah Craig Darlington. James went by the name "Frank", like his father.

James William Franklin Darlington married Josephine Quillen, daughter of James and Margaret Biggins Quillen, in September 1900 Fayette County, West Virginia. At the time of young Frank's death from spinal meningitis in 1917 Kanawha County, he and Josephine had four children, one being my great-grandmother, Carmen Pearl Darlington. Carmen married Forrest L. Grigsby in 1917 Fayette County, West Virginia.

Biographies

Meredith Darlington, Jr.<sup>2</sup>

Mary Doster was born circa 1775, probably in Culpepper County. She married Meredith Darlington Jr. son of Meredith and Mary (Davis) Darlington Sr., Aug. 10, 1809, in Frederick County, Virginia. Meredith Jr. was born on the 15th day, 6th month, 1778. It is believed that he died in Frederick County. Four children were born to this union: Joseph Darlington, Harvey Darlington, Evalina Darlington, and James Darlington. The Darlingtons came from Durham County, England.

Benjamin Darlington

Benjamin Darlington married Mary, daughter of William and Amie Johnson, and lived in Nicholas County for seventeen years before coming to Loup Creek. His cabin and clearing were located on Mulberry Fork of Loup Creek. He was still living there in 1841 when a nephew, James Johnson, made a land entry of fifty acres extending down the branch on both sides "to include the improvement whereon Ben Darlington lives". In 1846, the fifty-acre tract was surveyed for James Darlington and patented by him the next year. Ultimately the tract became a part of the Turley Foster claims. At Bee Fork below, was the log school house where Ben taught the children of the settlers for several years. Mr. Julian Johnson, of Pratt, has stated that his father, John B. Johnson, attended this log school beginning about 1830, and that he got all of his schooling there under Benjamin Darlington. Those were the days of the subscription school, when the patrons erected the building and paid the tuition of the pupils - four or five cents per diem for each pupil. The Johnsons were accustomed to having their school and church wherever they chanced to be, and one of their first considerations after arriving on Loup Creek was the erection of a building for education and religion. The Bee Fork School on Mulberry Fork is the same one referred to and more accurately dated in the following original source - a land survey made for...

This was one of the very few schools in existence in our area at this period before the formation of Fayette County, and all their teachers so far as known were men - Francis Pinnell, Wesley Pinnell, Harlow Heath, Benjamin Darlington, etc. School records of the whole of Kanawha County cited by Dr. C. H. Ambles, West Virginia historian, show that in the decades of the twenties and thirties there was not a single lady teacher in the county. A few women entered the profession in the forties. The Census of 1840 lists Benjamin Darlington's occupation under the heading "Professions and Engineers", and his name appears in a list of Kanawha County teachers of the forties found in Dr. C. H. Ambler's treatise on the schools that received aid from the Literary Fund of Virginia.

In this same decade, there is a record of a firm doing business under the head of Darlington and Peebles, further identified as "Partners in Trade" organized by Benjamin Darlington and Robert Peebles, but the location of their business is not given; and it may be questioned whether the partner referred to here was the elder Benjamin Darlington or his son Benjamin, Jr.

Benjamin and Mary Darlington had five sons and five daughters that swelled the enrollment of his Schools, but did not add anything to his salary. The sons were William of Kanawha Falls, Joseph of Swiss on Gaulley, James of Morris Creek, Benjamin of Charleston, and John of Loup Creek. The daughters were Nancy, Mary, Rebecca, and two others. None of the family remained on Mulberry Fork. Benjamin and Mary spent their last days on Morris Creek near Montgomery.

James Darlington

James Darlington, son of Benjamin and Mary Darlington, lived first on Mulberry Fork of Loup Creek, where he made a land entry and obtained a patent for fifty acres at the mouth of Settle Fork in 1846-47. Seeking better economic opportunities, he moved from there to Kanawha Falls, where he engaged in the merchandise business for a short time. In 1849, he bought 117 acres on Morris Creek about two miles above its mouth and lived in a two-story log house with projecting upper story reminiscent of block houses of Indian times. It was located a few rods above the site of the later Donwood store. From the timber on his place, he cut and sold tall straight white oaks for boat gunwales, which brought fifty dollars per pair in the boat building industry on the Kanawha.

Darlington had attended the Bee Fork log school on Mulberry Fork as a boy. After he was grown, he attended night school while holding a job at day labor. Having qualified as a grammar schoolteacher, he was employed by the patrons to teach their children in the log schools on the Kanawha. Fayette County had a school superintendent at that time, but the financing of the schools was still the burden of the patrons. In 1852, James Darlington was elected Justice of the Peace and member of the County Court, which then consisted of the fourteen elected Justices and had judicial as well as administrative functions. The Court was divided into four sections of three Justices each for the quarterly sessions, and Darlington was chosen chairman of his section. He served until 1856 and, in that same year, met with a fatal timbering accident resulting in his death at the early age of forty. A few years later, his oldest son was lost in the Civil War. The son, Lieutenant Nathan Darlington, enlisted in the Sixtieth Virginia Regiment at the age of eighteen.*<sup>3</sup> and participated in the campaigns in the Kanawha Valley, in North Carolina, and in the Seven Days battles near Richmond, receiving special mention for gallantry in actions at Mechanicsville, Gaines Mill, and Fraysers Farm.

After the war, Eliza Darlington, widow of James Darlington, sold her property on Morris Creek and moved to Loup Creek, where she bought two-hundred twenty acres on the west side of the valley opposite and below the mouth of White Oak Fork. There her two surviving sons, Owen and James, built a large two-story log house on the site of the old pre-war Mosley cabin and cleared many acres of additional land for farm crops - corn, oats, wheat, tobacco, pumpkins, melons, potatoes, and vegetables - and for orchards and pasture. Tobacco was the money crop and, for its curing, two large log barns were erected on the farm. Owen Darlington was a public schoolteacher, beginning at the age of seventeen. His teaching service in log schools and their successors in various parts of the county spanned the period from 1866 to 1916.

Benjamin Darlington, Jr.

Benjamin Darlington, Jr., son Of Benjamin and Mary Darlington of Nicholas and Fayette counties, was born in the Peters Creek area of Nicholas County and died at Charleston. He married Nancy, daughter of Turley and Amy Foster of Mulberry Fork, Loup Creek. He was a farmer, teacher, and preacher. He taught subscription school in the Montgomery area before the Civil War. In the 1850s, he entered the ministry as a preacher of the Methodist Episcopal church. He became a well-known circuit rider, traveling the wilderness roads on horseback to serve a string of remote log churches. Among the churches he served in the Loop were Evans Chapel at Deep Water, Ebenezer Church at Kincaid, Lincoln Chapel at Wriston, Doggett Chapel on Laurel Creek, and Camp Ground (on the Hawkins Place) at Oak Hill.

At a Methodist Conference held at Parkersburg March 16, 1864, with Bishop Morris presiding, Darlington was assigned to an extensive new circuit composed of what had been four separate circuits before the war. It included the former circuits of Fayette, Raleigh, Summersville, and Mountain Cove.

This combination of circuits was made necessary by the scarcity of qualified workers resulting from the uncertainties of war time. At this time, the circuit rider lived on Morris Creek, near Montgomery, and this far-flung circuit must have been a severe challenge. In later years, Darlington accepted a stationary charge as pastor of a church near Charleston.

One son of Benjamin and Nancy Darlington remained in the Loop. This was Dick Darlington, a carpenter, cabinet maker, and stonemason. He lived on Laurel Creek, at Fayetteville, and at Scarbro. Other children of Benjamin Darlington and wife were Margaret (Jarrett), Nancy E., Virginia, Rebecca A., Benjamin, and Ada.

<sup>3</sup> Frederick Nathan Darlington enlisted 26 Jun 1861, was promoted to Sergeant 15 Dec 1861, then to Lieutenant 15 Apr 1862. He was reported to have resigned (commission?) 15 Jan 1863 - do not have a record of him being killed.

<sup>5</sup> This is the last census report that Benjamin Darlington – I do not have specific death info at this time. According to the internet posting of Janet Skelton dated 21 Feb 03, Allen Ewing married Rachel Johnson (b. Dec 19, 1816) then Elizabeth Donnally on Oct 17, 1859. The last child of Rachel and Allen Ewing appears to be Angeline, born Mar 16, 1857. There seems to be some confusion as to the maiden name of Rachel of Rachel Ewing – it is highly likely Rachel in the daughter of Benjamin and Mary Johnson Darlington.

Mary's sister, Rebecca A. Whalen married George A. Darlington (son of William and Anna Holiday). I cannot locate Mary Whalen Darlington with oldest son, Franklin (born 1858), in the 1860 census records at all.

Hello! I discovered my Darlington roots via my grandmother Hellen Holmes Clark of Victoria, Virginia. Her mother was Ida Darlington, daughter of William Darlington and Martha Taylor. William was the son of John Johnson Darlington and Ruth Ingram. John Johnson was the son of Benjamin Darlington and Mary Polly Johnson. These ancestors of mine inhabited primarily the Kanawha, Nicholas, and Fayette counties of VA/WV. If any of these names are in your family line, I would love to connect with you. I have found a fair amount of information on the Darlingtons, as well as associated lines, and would not only like to share, but also just connect. Thanks, and take care!

I don't know whether this information will be of any assistance in your research. I am a Wilson family researcher, with many genealogical ties to Lewis and Mason Co. KY. Here is pretty much a verbatim biography of General Joseph Darlington, as recorded by Cora Scott Wilson in her book about the Wilson family of Lewis Co. I do know that Joseph did marry Sarah Wilson, daughter of Lt. Col. George William Wilson and Elizabeth McCreery. Here's the quoted info ----which is my only source of information at the moment on the goings and comings of the Darlington family:

"General Joseph Darlington was born July 19, 1765, within four miles of Winchester, Virginia, on a plantation of over 400 acres owned by his father, Meredith Darlington.

"He was very fond of good dressing. He won the good graces of Miss Sarah Wilson of Romney, Virginia (now West Virginia), said to be a very wealthy young lady and the belle of two counties, Frederick and Hampshire. She was also courted by Albert Gallatin, but General Darlington won her hand.

"Sarah was the daughter of Col. George Wilson and Elizabeth McCreery. Sarah and Darlington were married at Romney, March 18, 1790.

"They removed to Fayette County, Pennsylvania, in 1790 to a farm owned by Sarah. Two sons were born there, John Meredith Darlington, December 4, 1791, and George Wilson, on November 18, 1793.

"In October, 1794, with their two children, they embarked on a Broadhorn [a variety of flat-bottomed boat used to ferry people and their belongings down the Ohio River] and landed in Maysville, Kentucky, November 14, 1794. General Darlington went from Maysville to the mouth of Cabin Creek, four miles above Maysville [i.e. east of Maysville], where he ran a ferry.

"In the spring 1797, he moved to the town of Washington, and located there. On July 10, 1797, he was appointed Judge of the Probate Court. In 1798, he became on the County Commissioners and Clerk of the Board.

"In 1803, he took up a tract of some 700 acres of land east of West Union, Ohio, and built a double-hewed log house opposite Collings Springs. The house burned down few years later.

"He held many responsible positions. They had six sons and two daughters.

"Their daughter Sarah married Reverend Henry Van Deman.

"General Darlington's residence was on the highway between Maysville and Zanesville, where he died of cholera, August 2, 1851, and was interred before noon that same day.

"He was a fine conversationalist and possessed great natural dignity of carriage.

"He adopted a grand-niece in 1727, who resided in his home until her marriage in 1840, and who resided near his home until his death in 1851."

Greg,

I am a direct descendant of Gabriel Darlington. If you are still interested, please contact me by e-mail. His father was Meredith Darlington and my family still carries the name to this day; i.e., my sister is Ann Meredith. This family line is eligible for membership in the DAR through Meredith. He housed several hundred Hessian prisoners of war on his farm in Frederick County, VA, during the Revolution. Just let me know how I can help.

Happy New Year,

Vanda Reynolds White
