Dedication

My grandpa, Harry Mitchell, was a good man. He enjoyed fishing, golfing, bowling, horseshoes, and playing cards. He was liked by many, was easy to talk to, and got along well with everyone he met. He enjoyed old westerns and war movies and was good at roofing and keeping the books for his golfing and bowling leagues. His motives were not complex and his needs were simple. He worked hard all his life and was a good provider for his family. I never knew Grandpa in the early years when the times for family and country were harder. I only know what has been shared with me – not all was a bed of roses, but by the time my sister, Crystal, and I came into his home in 1971, life was stable and Grandpa's retirement from the steel mill was near.

Grandpa was born March 29, 1919 in Clarion County, Rimersburg, Pennsylvania—son of Taylor Roy and Gertrude Mohny Mitchell, and grandson of English immigrant, Wilson Mitchell. By 1930, the Taylor Roy Mitchell household was living in Struthers, Ohio. Grandpa quit school when he was in the 10th grade; he began his post-school life selling apples, making a dollar a day, and taking a fancy to his neighbor, Alma Grigsby. After courting for 4 ½ years, Harry and Alma decided to elope to New Castle, Pennsylvania to get married on January 27, 1940. Two weeks had passed before they told their parents that they were husband and wife. Shortly after their marriage, Grandpa began working at Youngstown Sheet and Tube as a Cut-off Machine Operator, making 75 cents an hour. Before the year ended, Grandpa and Grandma had their first child, my mom, Carolyn Joyce Mitchell. Shortly after the birth of their second child, Harry Edwin (my uncle Ed), life had to be postponed because of World War II. Grandpa enlisted in the Navy on May 22, 1944—getting his training as a Landing Craft Operator at Great Lakes, Illinois.

Grandpa didn't dwell on war stories but one particular one he did tell me about was when he was tasked to monitor the seas for submarine activity from a lifeboat off the side of the ship. At some point he had dozed off, and was then subsequently rudely awakened by machine gun fire from his own ship going off over his head. This is the best I recall of the particulars but it sure made a lasting impression on my grandpa. Another harrowing experience he shared concerned his participation in the Battle of Iwo Jima. As a Landing Craft Operator he experienced first hand what we can only imagine—to have neighboring buddies blown out of the water while trying to ferry marines to a hostile shore. Grandma always talked about the time when Grandpa returned home after the war—he left with a full head of hair and came back with none. She also talked of how my Mom heard grandpa talking to my grandma when he came home after his January 1946 discharge from the Navy—Mom asked who that strange man was in the house.

After 35 years, Harry E. Mitchell retired from the steel mill in 1975. Although retired, he continued to supplement his income with roofing jobs. I assisted him on numerous occasions by transporting the 80 pound bundle of shingles from ground to roof. Grandpa was fearless when it came to walking around on the roofs and hammering nails along those treacherous edges—me, I tried never to look down.

In 1977, my sister and I moved out of the home of our grandparents to live back with our mom in Washington State. I continued to periodically return to Ohio after joining the Air Force in 1978, visiting with my grandparents and family; golfing, fishing, and playing cards with my grandpa. The last time I saw him was when I came home from England in February 1993 to attend his funeral. I sure do miss my grandpa.

MITCHELL

The first Mitchell that I begin my research with is Wilson Mitchell, born 1789 in Lancashire County, England (Coniston), he was a copper miner—mining was a prevalent occupation for our Mitchell ancestors in England. I am still researching possible parents of Wilson in the Lancashire region. My strongest circumstantial candidates are William and Martha Wilson who were married in Hawkshead, Lancashire on December 14, 1773—the “Wilson” namesake has its likely beginning from this union. On July 11, 1818, Wilson married Martha Atkinson, who was born 1798 in Cumberland County, England (Ulpha). Martha was the daughter of Joseph and Frances Atkinson of Ulpha. I first located the Wilson and Martha Mitchell family in the 1841 Church Coniston, Lancashire County, England census, but have not found any death information on Wilson and Martha at this time. Wilson and Martha were the parents of John Mitchell (1827 – 1899). John was born in nearby Kirkby Ireleth in Lancashire and was the father of Wilson Mitchell (1865 – 1940), immigrant ancestor of our American Mitchell line.

Wilson (the elder) and Martha Atkinson Mitchell remained in Cumberland after their marriage for a number of years based on the baptism records of at least two sons, William (christened 26 February 1820), and Robert (christened 2 May 1824)—both christened in Ulpha. By the time my X3-great-grandfather, John Mitchell, was born in 1827, the Wilson Mitchell family was living in the region of Kirkby Ireleth, Lancashire County, England. Sending for documentation of John’s birth I was provided a June 10th 1829 baptism record from the parish of Kirkby Ireleth—“John and Wilson, sons of Wilson Mitchel, Labourer of Beckstones and Martha”<sup>1</sup>. Another son, Thomas, was also baptized in Kirkby Ireleth—he was baptized February 20, 1832.

John Mitchell lived in Cleator, Cumberland County, England by the time of his November 26, 1859 marriage to Frances Kewley. Frances was the daughter of Thomas and Ann Kewley of Egremont in Cumberland. Thomas Kewley was a copper miner in Egremont, he was born on the Isle of Man. Frances was the only known child of Thomas and Ann—her mother Ann died in 1855 of “general debility” and Thomas died in 1893. By 1861, John and Frances were living in Egremont.

John and Frances Kewley Mitchell had three children; Ann born in 1859, Martha born in 1862, and Wilson born in 1865. Ann (named for Frances’s mother) married William Routledge in 1893 Egremont. Martha (named for John’s mother<sup>2</sup>) married Humphrey Nixon in 1901 Egremont. John’s younger brother, Abel, also lived in Cleator according to his 1854 marriage to Sarah Jenkinson. Abel later lived in Egremont with his brother, John. At least one brother of John and Abel immigrated to the United States—Thomas Mitchell, born in 1830, settled in the region of Clarion County by 1855. Thomas Mitchell was recognized for distinguished service during the Civil War. Wilson Mitchell, son of John who was christened on July 16, 1865, in the Shire of Cumberland, Egremont, England, followed his uncle Thomas to Clarion County, PA in 1887<sup>3</sup>.

On October 22, 1887, Wilson Mitchell married Minnie Carnahan in Clarion County, PA. Minnie was the daughter of Taylor and Barbara Watterson Carnahan of Clarion County. Wilson and Minnie were the parents of nine children. In 1918, Wilson and Minnie moved to Mahoning County, Ohio (Youngstown), where they remained until their deaths. They were transported to the Rimersburg Cemetery in Clarion County, for burial. Their son, my great-grandfather Taylor Roy Mitchell, married Gertrude Mohney in 1915 Clarion County, PA. Gertrude was the daughter of James and Mary Emigh Mohney. Some time after the 1920 census, Taylor and Gertrude eventually followed Wilson and Minnie Mitchell to Mahoning County, Ohio, where they remained until their deaths.

<sup>5</sup> I believe that Robert Mitchell was the brother of Wilson Mitchell (b. 1789). William (b. 1811) is possibly the son of Robert but not confirmed.

<sup>6</sup> William Mitchell married Hannah Lindsay on 20 Jan 1842 in Lancashire; they had a son named Wilson Mitchell.

<sup>7</sup> Grace Atkinson may have a connection to Martha Atkinson Mitchell – wife of Wilson (married in 1818).

<sup>18</sup> James Mitchell not connected to Mitchell's of this research at this time – I believe there is a family connection to the Mitchell's I find in Kendal, Westmoreland – possibly a brother to Wilson (b. 1789) raised a family in Kendal.

<sup>19</sup> I originally recorded this Mitchell family because of the name "Wilson" in the family – but it turned out that John Mitchell married Rebecca Wilson.

<sup>20</sup> Reported as a widower in the census. It appears Thomas Kewley married his much older wife, Ann, some time around the early 1830's. The information I have, thus far, shows that Thomas and Ann only had one child, Frances. Frances Kewley, born around 1834 in Egremont, married John Mitchell, born in Kirkby Ireleth, Lancashire, England. I am researching a lead on a possible Thomas and Ann Kewley son, James, born in 1832.

<sup>21</sup> This John Mitchell family is unrelated to the Mitchell's of this research at this time.

<sup>42</sup> According to the Civil War records of Thomas Mitchel – he married Mary Ann High in Fleetwood, Lancashire, England March 1, 1854. A different sources states that he married Mary Ann in Schykill County, Pennsylvania (I cannot locate a marriage record from either place). I am tracking a lead on the possible parents of Mary Ann being Anthony (b. 1801 Lancashire) and Ann High (b. 1806) of Church Coniston, England (there is a 3-year old Maryan in their household in the 1841 Church Coniston census). Thomas Mitchell's biography from Clarion Co, PA states he was the son of Wilson and Martha Mitchell. Thomas is the uncle of Wilson Mitchell (b. 1865) who later immigrated to Clarion Co, PA in 1886.

<sup>43</sup> James and George Mitchell recorded because they live around Wm Mitchell who ended up in Clarion Co, PA by 1870. I am looking at the possibility that James, George, and Wm. may be a related Mitchell branch.

<sup>44</sup> Thomas was recognized for distinguished service during the Civil War enlisting Sept. 17, 1862 in the Union Cavalry, Co. C 14th Regiment – discharged on May 30, 1865.

Church Coniston

CHURCH CONISTON township and chapelry comprises a romantic district, with a village of scattered houses built on the sides of eminences, at the head of Coniston lake, four miles W.S.W. of Hawkshead. From the margin of this lake is obtained a view of the Vale of Yewdale, with its stupendous crags and venerable tree; and near to it is the valley of Tilberthwaite, where the fells on either side appear like one mass of blue slate, from the great number of quarries made in them for its extraction. Some hundreds of the inhabitants are constantly employed in the slate quarries and copper mines of this neighbourhood, 400 being employed at the copper mines; and the average quantity of excellent ore raised monthly is about 250 tons, which as well as the slates, are boated down the lake to Nibthwaite, and then carted to Greenodd or Ulverston for shipment. Coniston Old Man, and other lofty mountains, are in this neighbourhood. The ascent to the old man is generally made from the inn at the head of the lake. A beacon erected on the summit of this mountain forms a very prominent object.

The Chapel, at Coniston, which was rebuilt and enlarged in 1819, is a neat building, with a small tower and two bells. It contains about 300 sittings, of which 120 are free, provided by £125 granted towards its re-erection, by the Incorporated Society for building churches and chapels. The living, which is a perpetual curacy, in the gift of T.R.G. Braddyll, Esq., and now in the incumbency of the Rev. Thomas Tolming, is worth £117 per annum.

Here is a Baptist Chapel, erected in 1837, and enlarged in 1841. A handsome school was built at Coniston, by subscription, about twelve years ago, but owing to some misunderstanding between the clergyman and the parishioners, it is at present closed up.

Coniston Hall, the ancient seat of the Flemings, of Rydal, in Westmorland, is an antique mansion, on the border of the lake, supposed to have been erected during the reign of Elizabeth. This estate came into the possession of the Flemings, in the time of Henry III, by the marriage of Richard le Fleming with an heiress of Adam de Urswick. A court baron is held occasionally for this manor. The hall is now occupied by Mr. Joseph Irving, farmer. Here is also a neat mansion called Hollywarth Cottage, the residence of John Barratt, Esq., managing partner for the Coniston

Copper Mining Company. On the western bank of Coniston lake a large hotel was erected in 1849, by J.G. Marshall, Esq., from a design furnished by Mr. Thompson, of Kendal, architect.

Tent Lodge is another pleasant dwelling, now unoccupied, on the banks of the lake, but in Monk Coniston township.

We beg here to present the reader with a short biographical notice of Miss Elizabeth Smith, a lady of extraordinary talents and acquirements, who resided at Tent Lodge, from 1801, till her death in 1806. Miss Smith was born at Burnhall, near Durham, the residence of her paternal ancestors, in December, 1776. In 1785, her father removed with his family to Piercefield, a seat which he possessed near Chepstow, but the depreciation in value of public securities, and the general disturbance of commercial affairs in 1793, caused the failure of many long-established houses, and amongst them was that of the banking establishment of Mr. Smith. "This untoward event compelled him to relinquish Piercefield, and for many years after the family might be said to have no settled abode. In 1794, Mr. Smith procured a captain's commission in the army, and proceeded to Ireland, where his regiment was stationed, and where he continued for several years;" but the family took possession of Tent Lodge, in 1801, and "here the greater part of Miss Smith's pieces were composed, and most of her translations from the Hebrew and German made." Miss Bowdler, who published a brief "Account of Miss Smith's Life and Character," says that at the age of thirteen she was well acquainted with the French and Italian languages, and had made considerable progress in the study of geometry, and some other branches of the mathematics. In 1793, Miss Smith had begun the study of German, and during the following winter acquired some knowledge of the Arabic and Persian languages. She also learned the Spanish language, and in 1794, began Latin and Greek. She studied the Hebrew, with the assistance of Parkhurst, "but she had no regular instruction in any language except French," and yet she was subsequently enabled to read fluently the most difficult Latin and Greek classics; possessed so critical a knowledge of German, as to translate without the aid of a dictionary, almost any author in that language; and her intimate acquaintance with Hebrew is evidenced by her translation of the Book of Job and other portions of the Bible; in the notes to which pieces she proves likewise her familiarity with Arabic, &c." She died August the 7th, 1806, at the early age of 29 years; and her remains lie interred at Hawkshead, in the church of which parish, a small white marble monument is erected to her memory.

Kirkby-Ireleth

Lewis's Topographical Dictionary of England, 5th Ed. Vol. 1.

Kirkby-Ireleth<sup>60</sup> (St. Cuthbert), a parish, in the union of ULVERSTONE, hundred of LONSDALE, north of the Sands, N. Division of the county of LANCASTER, 4 1/2 miles (N. W. by W.) from Ulverstone; containing 3449 inhabitants. The parish is separated from the parish of Millom, in the county of Cumberland, by the river Duddon which falls into the Irish sea; it comprises, exclusively of waste land and common, about 1000 inclosed and cultivated acres, with a tolerable portion of woodland. The soil is of a clayey nature, alternated with tracts of lighter quality, and there is some good meadow land; there are some quarries of dark blue slate of good quality, which is conveyed by the river to distant places. It is in contemplation, by making an embankment for the West Cumberland and Furness railway, to reclaim nearly 6000 acres of land near the mouth of the Duddon, which are now covered by the tides. The living is a discharged vicarage, valued in the king's books at 5.6.8 pounds; net income, 125 pounds; patrons and appropriators, Dean and Chapter of York. The church contains several ancient monuments, and the windows exhibit some beautiful specimens of stained glass. There are chapels at Broughton in Furness, Woodland, and Seathwaite. John Dodgson left 300 pounds for the use of the poor, and for education.

Egremont

Lewis's Topographical Dictionary of England, 5th Ed. Vol. 1.

EGREMONT (St. Michael), a market-town and parish, in the union of WHITEHAVEN, ALLERDALE ward above Derwent, W. Division of the county of CUMBERLAND, 42 1/2 miles (S. W. by S.) from Carlisle, and 293 (N. W. by N.) from London; containing 1750 inhabitants. This place is of great antiquity, and the neighbourhood is supposed to have been the scene of various conflicts between the Saxons and the Danes. At the time of the Conquest, Ranulph de Meschines, to whom William had granted the whole county of Cumberland, gave the great barony of Copeland (now called the barony of Egremont) to his brother, William de Meshines, who erected his baronial castle on the site of an ancient Danish fort. The remains of this fortress, to the north-west of the town, though not extensive, exhibit traces of antiquity and strength: they consist chiefly of the gateway-tower and vaulted entrance, of circular arches in the Norman style; portions of the outer wall, inclosing a quadrangular area; the postern, and three narrow gateways, communicating with the outworks, which are of a later date. The town is situated within less than three miles of the Irish Sea, and consists principally of one spacious street: the houses are in general ancient, but many improvements have been recently effected, and a new bridge has been built over the river Echen. The clothing business appears to have been anciently carried on here; the principle articles of manufactured at present are checks, linen, canvas, sail-cloth, and paper; the tanning and dressing of leather prevail to a limited extent, and in the parish are mines of ironstone, from which about 100 tons of ore are raised per day, and shipped at Whitehaven, for the supply of the iron-foundries of South Wales; limestone and red freestone are found in the neighbourhood, and a considerable quantity of lime is burnt. The market is on Saturday, and is well supplied with corn: the fairs are on Feb. 18th for horses, the third Friday in May, and Sept. 18th for horned cattle, sheep, &c.; on the three days following the last fair, a festival is celebrated, during which the inhabitants are allowed to sell ale without a licence: statute fairs for hiring servants are held at Whitsuntide and Martinmas.

The town was anciently a borough, and returned members to parliament in the 23rd of Edward I., but was on its own petition disfranchised, in the 24th of the same reign; the burgesses possessed many other privileges, of which all records are lost. A borough serjeant, two bailiffs, four constables, two hedge and corn-viewers, and assessors of damages, are appointed at the court leet of the lord of the manor, held in April, at which time a customary court is also held; a court baron is held every third Friday, under the Earl of Egremont, for the recovery of debts under 40s. The town is a polling-place for the western division of the county. The living is a discharged rectory, valued in the king's books at (pounds) 7.12.1., and in the patronage of the Wyndham family; net income, 249 (pounds). The church is an ancient structure, of which the east end is in the early English style, and the remainder chiefly Norman; it has a low tower. There is a place of worship for Wesleyans; and a National school is supported by subscription. Near the ruins of the castle is a cairn of stones, called Woful Bank, which seems to have some reference to a battle fought prior to the Conquest.

Miscellaneous Isle of Man, England Records (Kewley)

[From Manx Families, A.W.Moore, MS 1889]

Lamothe's Family

John Dominique (b 1731, obit 1807), son of Sieur Arnaud & Marguerite Perez of Bayonne in the Basses Pyrenees, was the progenitor of the Manx Lamothe's. On the 30th of June 1760, he went as surgeon on board the privateer brig St. Lawrence, of 10 guns. She captured several English vessels, the crews of which rose and took possession of the St. Lawrence, bringing here, on the 9th November in the same year, into Douglas. Dominique with the rest was imprisoned in Castle Rushen, but was released on parole. When H.M.S. Delight came to take off the prisoners in January 1761, he 'having gone on an exploring expedition into the Island' was not to be found and so the Delight sailed without him. He was then re-imprisoned in Castle Rushen, but it is said that his medical skill proved so successful in the case of the Governor's wife that he was soon released, and, as after the conclusion of peace in 1763 he remained in the Island of his own free will, he continued the practice of his profession there. In 1763, he married Susanna (born 1741, obit 1803), daughter of Henry Corrin of Castletown, whose sister married Deemster Lace, and had issue 11 children: William born 1763 (obit sans progeny); John (born 1764, obit 1808) married Sarah Cummins in 1797 at Londonderry and had issue one only daughter, Rebecca, who married and had issue; Jane (born 1766, obit unmarried); Sophia (born 1769, obit ?) married Rev. Joseph Stowell, master of Peel Grammar School in 1796 and had issue 3 sons and 2 daughters (see Stowells); Frederick (born 1773, obit 1838) married Margaret, daughter of John Corlett of Glen trammon, H.K., in 1804. He was a M.R.C.S.E. and practiced in Ramsey for 35 years. They had issue Frederick John Dominique (born 1805, obit 1865) of Ramsey, advocate, M.H.K. He married Ann, only daughter of Thomas Cowle, Ballavair, Bride, in 1830, and had issue:

John Henry (obit young); Frederick Cowle (born 1832, obit 1842).

Annie Isabella (born 1835) married Rev. Hugh A. Stowell and has issue (see Stowell's).

Henry Thomas (born 1836, obit 1868 without progeny).

He took his degree at St. John's College, Cambridge, in Moral Science (Honours in 1864), and rowed the University boat race in 1863. He was ordained in 1864 and held several curacies and livings. He married Jecholiah Elkington in 1882 and left issue one son, Claude Douglas, now, in 1896, living with his mother at Eastbourne. They have taken the name of 'de la Mothe'; Margaret Corlet (born 1840) married Rev. Ed. Parke, Rector of St. Andrews, Blackley, Manchester, and has issue.

Catherine Rose (born 1841) married William Johnson, of London, wine merchant, and has issue.

Frederick (born 1843), educated at King William's College, Scholar of L.C.C. Cambridge, took his degree in 1868 (3rd class classical Tripos) and proceeded M.A. in 1872. He was curate of Andreas and is now Vicar of C.C., Heaton, near Manchester. In 1887 he married Mabel Clare Joughin, and has issue Margaret Clare Elise (born 1888); Hugh Dominique (born 1890); Frederick Hilary (born 1892); Albert Edward (born 1844) of Peel, advocates.

Mona (born 1845, obit 1872).

The next child of Frederick (the third son of Dominique the First) was Ann Susannah (born 1808). She married Lieut. Pilcher Ralfe, R.N., and had issue. Then came Margaret Eliza (born 1810), still living in 1896, in Ramsey; Catherine Rose (born 1812, obit 1891) married John Henry Spencer M.D., of Douglas, and had issue; and finally John Henry (born 1817, obit 1845) married Sabrina (born ?, obit 1846) and had issue one only daughter, who died in the same year. ## Stole or Stowell of Ballastowell

This name was formerly Stole, and the name of their property Ballastole. Both have now become Stowell. The family of this name was found slatted at Ballastole in Maughold at the end of the 17th century. None of them were men of any mark till we come to one Thomas,<sup>1</sup> who was chiefly notorious for having had 16 children (1 daughter and 15 sons) by his second wife Ann Browne (born 1739, died 1783), the eldest and only daughter <sup>2</sup> of Robert Brown, father of the Revd Robert Brown, afterwards Vicar of Braddan. By his first and third wives, he had no issue. The eldest son John was born in 1762. He was connected with the earliest attempts at a weekly newspaper in the Island and was chiefly remarkable for several clever satirical poems on local politics. The best of these are 'Salad' and 'The Retrospect,' which, with others, were published by him 'at a private press' in 1795. He married Mary, the youngest daughter <sup>3</sup> of Lewis Geneste (the elder) and had issue two sons, William who married a Miss Forel and died without issue, and Joseph, a medical man, who died unmarried. John died in 1799, at the early age of 37. The second son was Thomas (born 1764 and died 1821). He was an able and active lawyer. In 1792, he published the Statute Laws and Ordinances of the Island. In 1796, he was sworn in as Acting Attorney General, and in 1804, he became Clerk of the Rolls. He build Hampton Court, Braddan, and lived there. He was married three times, (1) to Alice, eldest daughter of Lewis Geneste, whose youngest daughter married John Stowell (see above). By her he had one daughter Nussy, who married the Revd Thomas Howard, and afterwards Rector of Ballaugh. He married (2) Elizabeth, daughter of William Callow, merchant, and had issue several children all of whom died young except Elizabeth who lived (unmarried) till 1882, and Amelia, also unmarried who died before her. (3) He married Hester Clark <sup>3</sup> by whom he had one son Joseph Percival, who died in 1832 without progeny. The next son was Hugh, Rector of Ballaugh <sup>4</sup> (see Manx Worthies) and who married Amelia (died January 9, 1814), a younger daughter of the above William Callow and had issue Hugh, afterwards Canon of Chester (see Manx Worthies); and ... who married the Revd William Gill, Vicar of Malew and had issue. She died in 1886 at the age of 87. Hugh, Canon of Chester, married in 1828 Ann Susannah Lacy Ashworth and had issue (1) Hugh Ashworth, died 1887, Vicar of Breadsall, who married Annie Isabella Lamothe (born 1835) and had issue,<sup>5</sup>(2) Thomas Alfred, Rector of Salford, and (3) Lucy married Mr Tayleur, and others. The next two brothers, James and William, were twins. James was the Captain of a merchant vessel. He married Ann Redfern and had issue only one of whom John married and had a son, a clergyman. William, a merchant, married Ann Hendry and had issue William Hendry and two daughters, one of whom, Cecilia, married ... Phillips <sup>6</sup>. William Hendry was Principal and Theological Tutor of Rotherham College and afterwards of Chestnut College. The next son, Joseph, was born in 1772 and was the eighth of 15 brothers. Of the remaining seven we know nothing. A memoir of him was written by his brother Hugh, who was greatly attached to him. From it we learn that he was in early life educated by the Revd. Philip Moore at the Douglas Grammar School and as he was a clever and forward boy, he became a great favorite. On his preceptor's death in 1783, he went to the Castletown Academy, then under the charge of the Revd Thomas Castley, M.A., a man of considerable erudition. In 1792, he became tutor to Governor Shaw's children, and in 1794, he was ordained as a preacher. He seems to have excelled as did his more distinguished brother and nephew. In 1795, he married Elizabeth, daughter of Dr. Dominic Lamothe of Castletown and had issue (1) Thomas of Ramsey, surgeon, who married Ann, daughter of William Courie, Master of Taubman's school and had issue Joseph,<sup>6</sup> Mariann,<sup>7</sup> Elizabeth,<sup>8</sup> Amelia,<sup>9</sup> Hugh,<sup>10</sup> Fredick. He was a surgeon in Ramsey. (2) Ann married Thomas Kewley of Castletown. (3) Betsey married the Revd. ... Qualtrough, Vicar of Rushen. (4) John Lamothe, afterwards Vicar of German.

Joseph, shortly after his marriage, opened a school in Castletown, which he conducted with great success till he was appointed to the headship both of the grammar and mathematical schools at Peel. In June 1801, he was seized by typhus fever and died on the 15th of that month. John Lamothe, the son of the above, was Vicar of German from 1839 to 1881. He resigned the living in 1881 and died in the following year. He married (1) Miss Greenor [or Grunor] of Shirtyland[?]

and had 2 sons, the Rev J E and the Revd H., and 4 daughters, and (2) he married Margaret Fletcher of Newcastle-on-Tyne.

1 Edward Stoile married Anne Casement 1726 and had issue ... Thomas born 1733.

2 JMO: Robert Brown & wife Ann Cosnahan had 9 children, 5 of whom were daughters.

3 JMO: 3rd wife Hester Clark was dau of Captn Joseph Clarke & Esther Moore, born 1790, died 1850, md 1809 to Tho. Stowell. Hester & Tho are mentioned in the 1813 will of Hester's great aunt Ann Durie Fine

4 Another son William (born 1765, died 1813) was a Captain in the Merchant Service. Newspaper giving account of his death says: 'His active and humane exertions in all cases of shipwreck and casual misfortune have endeared his memory to the community.'

5 (1) Rev Hugh F. LaMothe, Rector of Wigton, Kents[?] and has issue Hugh Oswald Douglas, Frederick Bromfield Lamothe and Annie Isabelle. (2) Ernest Alfred married his cousin Edith Lamothe and has issue. (3) Vere Arthur.

6 Joseph married Louisa Talbot, sister of Revd Thomas Talbot and had issue Joseph, Mary, Anne, Elizabeth

7 Mariann married Thomas Kewley and had issue Revd. J. W. Rector of Armitage, Staff.

8 Elizabeth married (2) Revd. E. Qualtrough, master of Peel grammar school; her first husband was ... Latham of Dublin. [md John Letham, Braddan 13 November 1827; married Rev Edward Qualtrough 11 August 1840 at KK German. No issue from either marriage. Rev Edwd Qualtrough died 17 March 1856 at Peel. He was the youngest son of Thomas Qualtrough of Kentraugh and Jane Qualtrough]

9 Amelia married the Revd. T. E. Brown, MA

10 Hugh married Ann Kelly (Baldrine, Lonan)

n0 FPC - Mary Geneste would appear to be Eldest Child

n1 FPC - two sisters were Ellen and Bellanne who ran a school at Rushen Abbey

A Brief History of Laxey

Laxey<sup>67</sup> is a widespread village on the eastern side of the Island. Its name is derived from the Norse word "Laxa" or salmon river, as apparently in early times great catches of salmon were taken from the river there.

Today Laxey is largely a residential area, but during the last century it became a thriving mining village. Today, very little evidence of this is to be seen, the mines have long since closed down, but fortunately there is still preserved in all its glory the famous Laxey Wheel, said by many to be the biggest in the world.

The Laxey Wheel, or Lady Isabella as it is known, was constructed in 1854 by John Casement, a native of Laxey and a brilliant engineer. It was designed by him to pump the surplus water from the mines and, by cleverly using the natural fall of the mountain streams as a power source, he produced this widely acclaimed remarkable engineering feat. The wheel has a circumference of 227ft, a diameter of 72 1/2ft and a breadth of 6ft and was capable of raising 250 gallons per minute from a depth of 1200ft. The horizontal pumping rods, supported on wheels running on rails, are carried from the wheel to the mine shaft on a viaduct - a distance of 200yds. In December, Lois decided to enjoy the winter in Florida. It was through Hospice of the Valley that her family found the remarkable Joanne's House in Bonita Springs, and most recently Hope Hospice in Ft. Myers. Lois's daughters decorated her hospice suite for each holiday and season along with family photographs, lighted pink flamingos, and fresh flowers. The lanai offered a constant view of the Florida sun, a relaxing lake, and palm trees. During the past 3 months, her daughter, Janet and husband, Moe Vari, were loving caregivers. Their condominium became the Ft. Myer's hotel and taxi service as the family came to say goodbye to their Mother and Grandmother.

Lois was born on December 1, 1926, in New Castle, PA, the only child of the late Archibald and Edna Neff McCanuel. In 1929, the family moved from Aliquippa, PA to Mt. Vernon Avenue in Youngstown. She graduated in 1945 from Woodrow Wilson High School.

On May 18, 1946 she married Kenneth H. Mitchell. While raising their eight children they lived at 30 Circle Drive in Poland. There was constant activity in the rambling split level home situated on a hillside above Yellow Creek. Neighborhood children could always be found at the Mitchell's --playing baseball, swimming in the pool, sled riding, fishing in Lake Hamilton, or ice skating on the creek. In 1958, the house was in the Parade of Homes. It had the areas first microwave oven, and featured wool carpet that was the same as the carpet in the White House.

Lois worked with her husband, Ken, in their land development, and new home construction business-- Holiday Realty and the Frontier Land Company. They built over 500 homes in Poland, Boardman, and Campbell. They operated the Holiday Bowl, Holiday Health Spa, the Embassy, the Rip Room, and the Wildlife Night Club. Her husband died of cancer in 1980 before the completion of the Tanglewood Heath Spa. Mrs. Mitchell continued to manage the family businesses through the 1980's.

Her daughter, Linda (Joseph) Janeczko died on August 17, 2001 from breast cancer. Lois and Linda were active participants in the Race for the Cure. Linda was the 1998 winner of the relay "Spirit Award".

Lois was always ready to travel, attend school events, real estate conventions, or shop with her grandchildren: Kristina Vari, and her fiancée Tad Stanford, Orlando, FL; Joe Vari, Virginia;; Laura Janeczko (Forrest) Pruett, Littleton, CO; Joseph Janeczko, Las Vegas, NV; Nathan Miller, Boardman; Zachary and Tyler Miller, Texas; Kendra Mitchell (Ben) Stevens, Dana Point, CA; Heather Mitchell, Ft. Lauderdale, FL; Casey Yash, Lake Mary, FL; Christa Yash, Poland; Michael Mathis, Delphi, IN. Great grandchildren, Cameron and Sydney Pruett, Littleton, CO.

Eight years ago Lois was diagnosed with breast cancer that metastasized to her lung, and liver. She courageously lived her life as she wanted, just ask Dr. William Reeves. She enjoyed the ladies she played cards with from Circle Drive, and most recently her new neighbors at James Place. Lois belonged to the Boardman Chapter of AARP. ## Robert Barwise Will

(Mentions Mitchels of Kirby/Kurby Dean, Cumberland, UK.)

Hello Listers,

I am a new subscriber to Genealogy.com but have recently come across this Mitchel info and thought it might be of use to someone out there.

Received this will of Robert Barwise in the quest in searching for my John Barwise born 1750. Is there anyone out there on the list who is researching Mitchel in the parish of Dean, Cumberland, England.

Does anyone recognise this Robert or any of the people named in it? The place was very hard to read and I cannot find a Kirby/Kurby at Dean, Cumberland, UK. It looks very much like Thursby but that is too far away to be the correct place, could have been a farmhouse.

WILL OF ROBERT BARWISE

PARISH OF DEAN, CUMBERLAND, ENGLAND.

In the name of God Amen. The thirty first day of March in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety three. I Robert Barwise of Kirby? in the parish of Dean and county of Cumberland, being very sick and weak of body, but of perfect mind and memory do make and ordain this my last will and testament, in the form and manner following.

First I give and bequeath to my daughter Mary Mitchel<sup>70</sup> the wife of Joseph Mitchel the sum of ten pounds, of good and lawful money to be paid six months after my decease, also a chest which was formerly her mothers.

Likewise I give and bequeath to Joseph and Robert Mitchel sons of Joseph Mitchel and Susannah Mitchel daughter of Joseph Mitchel aforesaid, the sum of twenty shillings each, to be paid twelve months after my decease.

Likewise, I do constitute, make and ordain my son John Barwise only and sole executor of this my last will and testament, paying all my debts, legacies and funeral expenses. I have hereafter set my hand and seal, the day above mentioned.

Robert Barwise his signature and seal.

Signed, sealed, published, pronounced and declared by the said Robert Barwise as his last will and testament in the presence of us the subscribers, namely.

William Clementson
