QUILLEN

Much of the early Quillen information I possess is found on the internet site of Adam Fitch Quillen of Troy, Ohio and shared in his book "The Quillen Family and Their Kith and Kin". Every accounting I have come across seems to agree upon one focal immigrant - Teague Quillin, age 20, who sailed from "ye port of London" aboard the ship "The Thomas" to arrive in Virginia on August 21, 1635. Maryland State Archives, which I have not seen personally, are said to contain records of Teague Quillin born 1615 in County Kilkenny, Ireland. Teague's son Daniel married wife Lydia in 1661 Northampton County, Virginia and settled in the region of Somerset County, Maryland. According to the book "Old Somerset on the Eastern Shore of Maryland", by Clayton Torrence:

Quillane. Daniel Quillane and Lydia, his wife, in Northampton County, Virginia, 1661; and by May, 1665, were in the Morumsco section. Quillane had patents in Somerset County for lands called "The Irish Grove," on e. side of Morumsco Creek, and "Limbrick," on n. side of Pocomoke River, in a neck of land called Nassawaddocks (O 7, p. 536). , Daniel and Lydia had issue: (1) Eliza, 1661/2; (2) Thomas, May 3, 1665; (3) Daniel, Jr., Nov 13, 1667; (4) Teague, March 13, 1669; (5) Judith, Jun 24, 1673; (6) Elizabeth, Mar 13, 1675 (IKL). It appears that "the almighty God hath so disposed that...Daniel Quillane came by misadventure to his death and dyed intestate" (see deed in Somerset Court, October 24, 1681 m Thomas Quillane to Thomas Lidster). Thomas Quillane (son of Daniel and Lydia) m., 1685, Sarah Morris; issue: (1) Daniel, 1687; (2) Thomas, 1691 (IKL).

Daniel and Lydia's son Thomas married Sarah Morris 24 July 1685 and reported the birth of two sons: Daniel, born 24 Jun 1687; and Thomas, Jr., born 14 Jul 1691. Thomas Quillen is recorded in the 1723 Somerset County, MD census. A Joseph Quillen married Elizabeth Lacham on 9 Nov 1735 in Dorchester County, MD. The exact ancestry of my own Quillen branch is vague and requires further research. My particular line picks up again from Clement (Quillon), who is first found in 1807, 1808, 1809, and 1810 census/tax records of Jefferson County, Ohio (Warren TWP). I recorded early New England Quillen families in hopes to locate Clement prior to his move to Ohio.

At this time, the father of Clement is unknown¹ (Clement Quillen is mentioned in Sussex and Kent County, Delaware probate records). One source I found claimed Thomas Quillane (b. 1710 Maryland) was the father of Clement² – guessing further, it could be that Thomas is likely a son of Daniel or Thomas, sons of Thomas and Sarah Morris. At any rate, the only known fact is that Clement Quillen ends up in Jefferson County, Ohio by 1807. After 1810, Clement's likely younger brother, Daniel, shows up in the area too. According to Delaware and Ohio census records Daniel had 3 daughters and 2 sons—based on location (Cadiz, OH) and ages, it appears that the sons of Daniel were Thomas (b. bet. 1795-1800) and John (b. bet. 1805-1810). John remained in the area but Thomas and his family disappeared by the time of the 1840 census. The family links I have made on Daniel's line have not been collaborated by proof—recordings have been in my genealogy file only to maintain a documented record of some of the family branches outside of Clement Quillen's branch. Clement was the father of Adam, Elihu, Joshua and Amos—these sons are alluded to in the 1826 will of Clement, which was probated in September 1835.

Clement's son, Amos Quillen, was my fifth great-grandfather and was born in Maryland. He married Jane Webster of Pennsylvania on August 13, 1813 in Harrison County, Ohio. I found Amos and Jane in Meigs County, Ohio, in the 1850 census, along with my fourth great-grandfather, Franklin Uriah, and a number of other Quillen families. Amos Quillen died in 1855 Syracuse, Ohio - where he is buried. His wife, Jane, died in 1872 and is buried with Amos in the Quillen Cemetery at Syracuse.

Franklin Uriah Quillen married Martha Capehart in 1848 Meigs County. Franklin and his brother, Alexander, married Capehart sisters, daughters of Henry and Mary Hogg Capehart of Mason County, West Virginia.³ Martha Capehart Quillen died in 1870.

Franklin Quillen's second wife, Esther Phelps, had three children from their union—one child, Franklin Jr., has published material on the Quillen family. Esther died in 1884. In 1888, Franklin married his third wife, Elizabeth McCoy.

By 1880, my third great-grandfather, James Henry Quillen, had moved out of the home and took up residence in Hocking County (Carbon Hill), Ohio - where he married Margaret (Maggie) Biggins. Margaret was the daughter of George and Ellen Howard Biggins of Washington County, Ohio.

Shortly after the 1883 birth of their second child, Verna Mae, James and Maggie Quillen moved to Fayette County, West Virginia (Montgomery - Cross Creek). James and Margaret had three children by the time of Margaret's death in 1889. Their oldest child, Josephine, is my great-great-grandmother. About 1890, James married his second wife, Vienna Webster. By 1897, James Quillen had returned to Meigs County, Ohio.

In 1902, Franklin Uriah Quillen, Sr. died in Syracuse, Ohio. His son, James Quillen, remained in the Meigs County region until his own death at the age of 94 in Syracuse, Ohio.

In September 1900, James and Margaret Biggins Quillen oldest child, Josephine, married James William Franklin "Frank" Darlington in Fayette County, West Virginia. Frank was the son of Benjamin F. and Sarah Craig Darlington. Franklin and Josephine gave birth to a set of twins on 14 January 1901. One twin was my great-grandmother Carmen Pearl Darlington.

⁴ If Clemont Quillen is in Kent County – he may be the one extra 26-44 year old male in this household.

⁵ This is likely Daniel Quillen who is found in Harrison County, Ohio (Cadiz) by the time of the 1820 census.

⁶ Clemonst and his 4 sons, Adam, Joshua, Amos and Elihu – this leaves Daniel and son Thomas (Daniel stills shows a younger son, born between 1805-1810, living in his household – son likely to be John).

⁷ This would be Elihu, son of Clemont.

⁸ Thomas, likely son of Daniel – age from previous census records matches up to the male 30-39 in the household but there is a male 50-59 I cannot account for (usually the named head of household, Thomas in this case, is the oldest male in the family –could be a census error since no other census reports a Thomas of this age bracket.

⁹ John Quillen born bet 1801-1810 matches up to previous census as a son of Daniel.

¹⁰ James Adam Quillen, son of Elihu.

¹¹ John by himself – no sign of families of Daniel and likely older son, Thomas.

¹² Stinson Quillen, son of Adam.

¹³ Adam Quillen oldest known son of Clement Quillen.

¹⁴ Believe Charles and Jefferson Quillen to be the sons of Adam and Mary Harper Quillen – not verified.

¹⁵ Joshua Quillen, second oldest son of Clement Quillen.

¹⁶ John and Rebecca Johnston Quillen, married 7 Oct 1829. Susan Mincks Obrien reports that John is the son of Thomas. All of John and Rebecca's family moved away by 1860 (many found in Tuscarawas County, OH) – several of Adam and Mary Harper Quillen's children also moved to Tuscarawas, County. There is a John Quillen in the 1860 Harrison County census who married Deborah Balderson 5 Dec 1857 – he may have stayed – and even continued to have more children.

¹⁷ Johnson married Lydia Ann Bell 16 Aug 1860 in Tuscarawas County, OH. Many of Johnson's siblings ended up in Tuscarawas County.

¹⁸ Thomas H. Quillen (b. Jan 1837 OH – d. Oct 1912) married Mary Elizabeth Hill 14 Apr 1864 in Harrison Co.

²⁰ Elihu, Sr. and Sarah Rice Quillen. Elihu is the 4th son of Clement Quillen.

²¹ Believe this to be the same William that is seen in the John and Rebecca Quillen household of this census (reported twice) – he later moves to Tuscarawas Co, OH with numerous other siblings.

²² Believe David, William, and James to be the sons of Elihu Quillen. No sign of David in later census records but there is a Charles with Sarah J. in 1860. Charles B. Quillen married Sarah Jane Stevenson, 22 Nov 1849, in Tuscarawas County, OH – could this actually be Charles David?

²⁹ Johnson later marries James and Margaret daughter, Lydia A. Bell in 1860.

³⁰ John Quillen – possibly same John that was found in the 1850 census with wife, Rebecca and many children. Many of John's children went to Tuscarawas County, Ohio making it likely he is a son or brother of Adam.

³¹ Alexander, son of Adam and Mary Harper Quillen.

³² This is Elihu Quillen, 4th son of Clement.

Quillin Biographies

James H. Quillen, grandfather

The Quillin family came to Pomeroy and Syracuse in the early 1800's. My great-grandfather was Uriah Quillin. He was born November 25, 1824 in Syracuse, and died there April 3, 1902. He is interred there in a very old cemetery; I believe it to be the Quillin Cemetery. He was a carpenter by trade and built the Presbyterian Church. His wives' names were: Martha, who was born November 26, 1830 and died August 3, 1870; Elizabeth, born April 10, 1835, died November 20, 1880, and Ester, born November 25, 1824, died.

Uriah's father is believed to be Amos Quillin, also interred in the same cemetery and born in 1786, died 1858.

Uriah had a son, James H. Quillin, who was my grandfather. He was born January 7, 1852 and died April 8, 1943. He is interred in Letart Falls Cemetery, along with his second wife, Viann Webster Quillin. His first wife, who was my grandmother, was Margaret (Maggie) Biggins Quillin, who was from Watertown, Ohio. Margaret is believed to have been born in 1849 in Ohio. Her parents were George Biggins, born 1809 in Ohio, and Ellen Biggins who was born in Virginia in 1816. Margaret was the youngest of seven children. They are listed in the 1850 census in the Grand Rapids Public Library, Grand Rapids Michigan. The children are: Bravilla Biggins, age 14; Meary A. Biggins, age 12; Sarah Biggins, age 10; Deanna Biggins, age 7; George W. Biggins, age 5; Meanuery Biggins, age 2; Margaret Biggins, age 1 1/2. All of them were born in Ohio.

My father was Harry Quillin, son of James H. Quillen and Margaret Biggins Quillin. Harry had two sisters, Josie Quillin, who was first married to a Fred Darlington, and had three children; Fred Darlington, born September 16, 1902, and now lives in Texas; and twin daughters, Beulah Krantz, who lives in South Charleston, W. Va., and Carmen Grigsby, now deceased. They were born January 14, 1901. Carmen died July 1960. She had one daughter by her second husband (Roach), Margaret Roach EcElhinny and lives at Frame, W.VA. Josie was born 1871, died 1946.

Second sister to Harry was Verna Mae Quillin Youell, born ----, died July, 1960. She was married to John Youell and had one daughter, Molly McClune, who lives in Bridgeport, W.Va.

Third, Harry Quillin, born January 5, 1889, died June 30, 1955, married my mother, Myrtle Frye Quillin, at Charleston, W. Va., in 1911, and had these children: Mable Quillin Sutherland, born 1912, lives in Charleston, W.Va.; James Quillin, born in 1914, lives in West Logan, W.Va.; Robert (Bobby) Quillin, who died very young; Magaline (Toatsie) Quillin, died at age 4 or 5 years; Beulah Quillin, born February 18, 1926, lives at Blair, W.Va.; Jack Quillin, born February 12, 1930, died April 23, 1958, interred in Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Va.; Trudy Quillin Laprade, born September 26, 1932, Chauncey, W.Va.; Phyllis Quillin Maynard, born June 15, 1935, Lyburn, W.Va.⁶⁹

Quillen-Davis

George Amos Quillen⁷⁰ was born July 27, 1923 in Middleport, Ohio. He was the son of Charles and Bessie (Batey) Quillen. When he was 5 years old he was playing with dynamite caps and blew 2 fingers from each hand. This did not hamper his career as later he was known for his mechanical skill and ability to work on any year or model of cars. He attended Pomeroy and Middleport Grade Schools. He worked in the coal mines from the age of 16 until he was disabled by a slate fall in the mine. He worked for Peacock Coal Mines and later operated a gas station in Middleport. He contracted black lung and died on Sept. 29, 1985. He is buried in Riverview Cemetery.

Myrtle Davis was born in Diablock, Kentucky on March 26, 1926. She was the daughter of Clarence and Lucy Davis. She was working in a laundry where she met and married George on Oct. 11, 1943. She still resides in Middleport.

⁶⁹ A biography on the Quillin family, published in "Meigs County Family History", was submitted by Beulah Quillin, granddaughter of James.

Together they had 7 children:

Quillens-Dewitts Run

Lewis Quillen married Luella Belle Miller. They owned a general store on DeWitts Run. They were the parents of one child, Gladys, better known as Gladdy. Gladdy married Wilbur Bissell, eldest son of Hiram and Frona Bissell. They were the parents of five living children and one stillborn daughter. Their oldest daughter, Kathleen (Kitty) lived with the Quillens. Kitty married Floyd Carnahan. He was in the U.S. Navy six years and is now retired from General Motors, while Kitty operated Carnahan's Catering out of her home until her retirement. They are the parents of three daughters Connie, Susan and Rebecca. They also raised two foster sons, George and John. Connie is a secretary at the Norwalk Courthouse and married Robert Alms. Bob is a mechanic. They have two children, Brian and Leann. Susan works for the School for Mental Retardation, Norwalk, and is now married to Bernard Aaron, Jr. She has three children from a previous marriage, Tony, Jennifer and Kevin Gahagan. Rebecca (Becky) was a L.P.N. and married David Carpenter who is employed by U.S. Steel in Elyria, Ohio. Becky died in August 1986 after a lingering fight with cancer.

Hayward married Kathleen (Kas) Hayman and they have three children (see Hayward and Kas Bissell Family story).

Howard L. Bissell married Magdalena Metz of Germany. He served in the U.S. Army and now works for Ford Motor Company in Sandusky. They have three sons: Howard W. with the U.S. Army in Germany. He is married to Jodi Beatty. They have one son Howard Elvis. Hayward William is married to Sherry Brown, a factory worker. They have one daughter, Crystal, and reside in Norwalk. Mark is with the U.S. Army stationed in South Carolina. Howard L. was married previously and has a daughter by that marriage, Kathy.

Virginia Bissell Light married Robert Light. He served in the U.S. Marines for two years and is now a supervisor with Norwalk Furniture. Virginia is a nurse's aide. They have two sons, John and David. David married to Kim Hakes. She is secretary for the Norwalk Prosecutor. David is with the Norwalk Police Department. John works for Norwalk Furniture and is also associated with the Norwalk police department.

Ralph Paul, the youngest, and his wife Karen, live in Norwalk, Ohio. He works at Shelby Globe and has two children Wendy and Ralph by previous marriage.

This is the lineage of the Quillens of DeWitts Run. Belle and Lew spent their long married life on DeWitts Run. She died at the age of 88 and he lived to die on his 98th birthday. Lew was noted for treating all illnesses and injuries with red mud and other home remedies, giving this advice to all who would listen. There is a cave located on the Quillen property where he and his cronies gathered to play poker. It was rumored that this was a selected place to avoid the wrath of his hot tempered wife, Belle. She would call him an "old fool", wait for him to go to sleep, then relieve him of his winnings.⁷²

SYRACUSE, O., Sept. 22, 1899.

EDITOR LEADER:—Being an interested reader of the Log Cabin Department of your paper and seeing that the fire is dying down in that corner, I will try to put on a little fuel, although I will not promise it to be a pine-knot. It will more likely be fuel that will hold fire for some time, doing no good, except to keep up the name.

I was born in Jefferson Co., O., Nov. 25, 1824 and was the seventh of ten children. My father moved to Meigs County in '42, and finally settled in Syracuse, which has been my home ever since.

As the subject of log-cabins has been fully discussed in your columns before I will not dwell upon this subject but will give you a description of a flat-boating trip from Steubenville, O., to New Orleans.

It was in March, 1847, that I was requested by a man to accompany him on a trip to New Orleans. He had two large boats, each of which was loaded with 2400 barrels of flour, which was considered a very large load. The wages paid flatboatmen in those days were not very enticing, being but 30 cents a day; but, being a young man, anxious to see a little of the country, I decided to go. One of my elder brothers, William, also decided to go; so it was not lonesome for me.

My brother and I were ordered to report at the landing at Steubenville immediately, to watch the boats, while the captain attended to getting men, supplies, etc., for our trip. At that time there was a small army of "rats" there, as they were generally called, being the men who did nothing but lay around the wharf and steal for a living. The captain gave us special orders to keep these men off the boat. One day three of the biggest of them came on the boat as if they were going to take her, and as soon as my brother saw them he ordered them off. He was a very strong man at the time and afraid of nothing. He ordered them off a second time. They hesitated and quicker than a flash, he jumped at the largest fellow and knocked him clear into the river. The other two took for the shore, fearing the same medicine. In a short time the whole gang was on the bank daring us to come out. They stayed there for hours, waiting for us, but we stayed on "home territory." After that we had no more "rats" bothering us.

In a few days, having secured the provisions, and the crew, which consisted of 10 men and the captain, we began the trip. The two boats were lashed together, having on each side two oars 45 feet long, with which we might keep the boats in the channel. This was not very hard to do this trip, as there was a good stage of water. The boats were very heavy and having square ends in them, they were quite hard to handle. There would be five men on a watch and sometimes it would take them two hours to straighten the boats around, when the wind would be blowing and the current running rapidly. This would very seldom occur, and the only other work would be landing in case of storm or when we would run out of provisions. Some days we would not have an hour's work to do, and never more than four, so that we would have plenty of time to see the country and to take hunts. The river front at that time put up quite a different appearance from what it does today. It was then nothing but a solid mass of timber and underbrush, there being but few towns to change the monotony of the scenery. Here and there you could see a house or barn peeping through the trees, which would keep you thinking that you were still within the bounds of civilization. Now and then an eagle would fly over your head, and a deer could be seen at the water's edge; but like a ghost, it would disappear as quickly as it came. Sometimes we would take the small boat, row to shore, and with our guns, secure a mess of squirrels in a few minutes, but we could never get sight of the deer as we had not the time to move cautiously. Then we would row after the boats and have a mess of fresh meat for supper. This would be a great treat and change from the regular bill of fare, which consisted of bread, beans, pork, potatoes and coffee. We took a large number of chickens with us but they failed to last long. We also had plenty of eggs when we started but these soon played out and when we got on the Mississippi and tried to buy some we were only asked 50 cents per dozen; so we did without them.

Speaking of our eating reminds me of an incident that occurred on this trip which I never will forget. There was a bully on the boats who was always boasting that he was the best man aboard and was always making it as miserable as possible for the rest. He, by the way, was formerly one of the "rats" before spoken of. One day we were sitting at the table eating and I asked for the bread. Beside his plate was a large piece of crust, the corner of a loaf of bread which was six inches high and about 18 inches square on the bottom, and which had been hollowed out by the captain at the first table. This he picked up and pitched across the table to me. Taking it as an insult I caught it in my hand, drew back and with all my might I let it go at him, striking him square between the eyes and knocking him backwards from the table, which was almost upset by his feet flying up. At this the crew went wild with laughter, while he gathered himself up to "lick" me. Seeing the odds were against him he decided to tell the captain his troubles and have me put off the boats, but I saw him first and when I told him, instead of putting me off, he joined the laugh. The fellow could then go no farther. After that he was as good a friend as I had on the trip.

One afternoon when just above Cincinnati, we were forced into shore by a storm and had to tie up. We had not been there long until we heard the barking of hounds out in the hills, and we knew they were after a deer. We listened to the chasing for some time and finally we could tell that it was on the front hill and making for the river just above us. My chum and I jumped in a skiff, and being good barsmen, we made good head-way against the current. We had not gone far until the deer gave a big jump ahead of us. We immediately "put on full steam" and when we got up to it, it was in the middle of the river. I was in the front oar-locks and when we got even with it I jumped up and hit it across the neck with one of the oars and disabled it. We, with much effort, hauled it into the skiff, and then I cut its throat. Just as this was done the men with the hounds appeared on the bank and claimed the deer. They wanted the hide and we wanted some venison, so we compromised, we taking the two hams, and giving them the remainder. This was excellent meat. All the boys immediately became enthusiastic and wished to kill a deer. For several days after this, whenever a snag was sighted in the river, there would be a scramble for the skiff to go to it, thinking that it might be a deer. They were fooled this way almost a half dozen times. They were just like a person who has been badly scared with a snake and who imagines every sound he hears is made by a snake coming after him.

We had several severe storms on the Ohio, which delayed us considerably. One beautiful moonlight April night we were floating along on the Mississippi in the shadows of the willows and everything was wrapped in silence, save the muffled oar of the pilot. Most all of the men were sleeping. In fact, nature seemed to be asleep. Presently a gentle breeze began to rock and swerve from their course. Still the wind increased. Nature, which but a few minutes before seemed asleep, now apparently aroused herself from her reverie, and, like a lion awakened from its lair, came forth with all her fury. The waves now rolled over one another in their wild fury and the boats, being lashed together, beat against one another with such violence that it was apparent to all that something must be done or they would both sink. Every man on the boat was awakened and brought to his post of duty. I yelled for an ax with which to cut the lashing that joined the two boats. Finally it was found and I, on my hands and knees, crawled over the deck to the lashing and separated them. Then all of us were kept busy keeping the boats apart. Finally, there was a lull in the wind and we were able to get to shore, but not until the boats had been so badly damaged that it took four days of hard work to repair them. This was the hardest storm that I was ever in while out in the river. Just a few days after this there was the hardest storm on the Mississippi that was ever known, but we luckily got landed before it began. Hundreds of boats were sunk in this, and many lives were lost. Wreckage filled the river for miles. Produce boats could be seen standing on end in some places, leaning up against trees, and sticking out of wreckage. Coal boats were sunk by the score and thousands of bushels of coal were lost. Never before did my eyes witness such a scene of havoc.

Not long after this I took my gun, got in the skiff and rowed to shore, where there was a flock of geese, which I supposed were wild. While I was rowing along the shore a man appeared on the scene and informed me that they were tame geese, hatched from wild goose eggs, and that they were owned by a man near by. We had a short conversation and he asked me if he might go down the river with us for about 25 miles. I told him it was against orders to bring any man aboard, but he said he would make it all right with the captain if I only would take him aboard, so I took him in. We rowed down the river after the boats and I observed that there was considerable cord-wood in the river. "Yes," he said, "I just lost 1000 cords last night by the bank caving off." We talked on and he asked me where I was from, I told him Ohio. He said: "The squirrels are so bad here that we have to have a man hired to go out every morning and shoot them and scare them away to the woods. This man did this work. One morning he went out to the field and was going along as usual through the corn when suddenly he heard something that sounded somewhat louder than squirrels' noise. He stopped and listened for a minute and then went sneaking up to it. When he had gotten within a few rods of it he could see some big monster standing up on his hind feet with arms outstretched taking in two rows of corn at a time. For a moment he was paralyzed with fear, then he dropped his gun and struck for the house with all his speed. When he got to the house he fell into the door breathless. As soon as he could speak he told us what he saw and I called thirty of my dogs, (I have just sixty hounds and feed them every day just 40 gallons of mush) and started out after the monster, which, of course, was a bear. When we got there, there was old bruin walking around the gun, just as if he owned the plantation and was guarding it. The dogs pounced down upon him and ran him to a tree which he climbed. I went over and shot him and soon the dogs treed another one. This one I shot. We went a little farther and a young cub was sighted in a tree and we got him, making three bears within an hour. We went back to the house then, hitched up to the wagon and went after them." I enjoyed the conversation very much and was very glad that I had taken him in. The story of the hounds pleased me very much, as I was then very fond of sport. He was a wealthy man and very good natured. He was very welcome on the boats, as he entertained the whole crowd with such as the above.

No person could in those days travel the Mississippi without being struck with the wonderful clearness and lightness of the air. There were scarcely any clearings along the banks to interrupt the sound waves, which traveled up the river like through a smooth tunnel. This can best be told by relating an incident that occurred one morning, as we were floating along. It was a beautiful morning, the sun shone brightly, the air seemed to be lit up with a brilliancy which added luster to the scenery. We were sitting out on the forward deck basking in the beautiful Spring sunshine. In the distance, which we all agreed was five miles away, we could see two negroes down on the shore.

Presently we heard them quarreling and could distinguish between them talking. One was working at a shed and the other was doing nothing. We could hear the former say, "Come on, here nigger. If you don't, I'll tell massa." The latter never moved and said nothing. Presently the first said, "I'll bet you'll move," and he started off to tell the master. In a few minutes back he came followed by the master. We were then about two miles away. We could hear every word that was said. The master ordered the second negro to pull his shirt and the first one to tie him to one of the posts of the shed. This was done. The master stepped back and with his 14 feet lash cut the negro one across the back. The lash writhed and hissed in the air and then it would crack on the poor fellow's back like a shot-gun and simultaneously he would give a yell. The blows were about two minutes apart. We counted them, there were thirty. Every lick brought the blood. When we got even with them the negro was red with blood. Still he continued to apply the lash. Every yell of the poor fellow grew fainter. Finally he fell, his life blood having ebbed almost away. Such a revolting scene of cruelty forever set me against slavery.

We arrived in New Orleans about the last of May. Having lain at Steubenville for three weeks before starting, it took us just about six weeks to make the trip. The actual number of days on which we floated was 23. This trip was one of the fastest ever made.

We stayed on the boats at New Orleans for about three weeks and then took passage for home. At that time there was lively competition between the old Yorktown and Champion, both running from New Orleans to Cincinnati. The fare for deck-passage on these boats to Cincinnati was $9. This did not include meals. Being several of us, we got reduced rates on the Champion, costing us $7. There was an event took place on this trip that I shall never forget. The two boats left the wharf at about the same time. Being of about equal speed they kept very close together only when one would be hailed in to take on freight. Just below Louisville they were running along quite near each other, but the Yorktown was ahead of us. The river at this point was quite wide, and our pilot decided to take the inside and pass her. Full steam was turned on and we began to split the water, and it was plain to be seen that we were going to pass her. Every one aboard of each boat was excited. The Yorktown being ahead of us made swells that rolled completely over our guards. I with many others, was in the pilot house. The pilot was so anxious that he leaned over the wheel and every muscle in his body seemed strained. Soon we were by her side. A bend was just ahead. Our pilot saw his chance and cut across. The pilot of the Yorktown, seeing that he had lost the race, wheeled his boat around and started right for us, intending to break us in two. Everyone saw the move. Several of us jumped out of the pilot house, ran back to the stern, and watched her tear past our wheel, missing it about nine inches. The dramatic part of the scene was yet to appear. The captain of our boat ordered that she slow up and run up alongside the other. This she did. Both captains by this time had their revolvers out, on the hurricane roof and as the boats came together they stood there within three or four feet of one another, with pistols drawn. This dramatic scene lasted for several minutes, while both actors gave their gentle speeches. Finally our captain was quieted down, and the curtain dropped. This performance was witnessed by a large audience, there being 100 passengers on the Champion and 300 on the Yorktown.

From Cincinnati I came home to Syracuse on the old Messenger the fare being 50 cents.
URIAH QUILLIN.

Clement Quillen

General Will Book File #328, Jefferson County, Ohio

In the name of God, Amen.

I, Clement QUILLEN of Jefferson County, state of Ohio, being. sick and .weak in body but sound in mind and memory, do make this my last will and testament. That is to say; that I first resign my soul to God who gave it. I secondly allow my body to be decently interred. I next allow my executors to pay all my lawful debts, provided my estate is worth the same. I now bequest to my four sons now living the whole of my landed property on which I now reside, to be equally divided anymore than my son Amos is to have his part off that land where he now lives. I also bequeath to my daughter Rachel at the decease of her mother, two hundred dollars. I also bequeath to my granddaughter Aria QUILLEN, at the decease of her grandmother, also two hundred dollars and the horse she now has named for her. Furthermore, I allow my sons above-mentioned to make up to my daughter Rachel and my granddaughter Aria QUILLEN the above-mentioned legacies out of the land, provided my chattled property will not amount for the same. And lastly, I bequeath the land and property that I now am in possession of, to my wife Hannah, as long as she lives, to enjoy it peaceably as she formerly has done. Syracuse. April 7 – Uriah Quillin was born in Jefferson county, Ohio, Nov. 24, 1824, died at Syracuse, O., April 3, 1902, aged 77 years 4 months and 9 days. When a young man he came with his parents to Syracuse where he has since resided. In 1848 he was married to Miss Martha Capehart and to this union were born eight children, Lemuel, of North Branch, Minn, James Quillen, Mrs. Fannie McBride, John and George Quillin, Mrs. Lillie Wagner, of Wellston, O., William and Samuel Quillin. In 1872 he was married to Miss Esther E. Phelps, of Letart, and to this union were born two children, Loren Quillin, of Dayton, O., and Frank Quillen, of Marietta. He was again married to Miss Elizabeth McCoy of Letart, in 1884. While yet a boy he was converted and became a member of the M.E. church, ever since which he has endeavored to lead a true christian life. He was a ship and house carpenter by trade. About a year ago he had a very severe spell of sickness and his friends despaired of his recovery, but his iron constitution triumphed and he recovered but not completely. Eleven days before his death disease again wracked his body and he put forth a heroic effort to rally but, his constitution was gone and he yielded to the inevitable. His death was sudden, but triumphant. He was conscious to the last and knew that life was ebbing away. Oft' times during the last night that he lived he repeated the Lord's prayer, and in his last moments he said: "Jesus lover of my soul let me to thy bosom fly." The funeral took place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian church conducted by Rev. Brady after which the remains were laid to rest in the Quillin cemetery. Pomeroy Tribune Telegraph

This lovely bud so young and fair,
Called hence by early doom,
Just came to show how sweet a flower,
In Paradise would bloom.
Ere sin could harm or sorrow fade,
Death came with friendly care,
The opening bud to heaven conveyed,
And bade it blossom there.
